

Kilbride Community Rail

The Kilbride Group has become involved in the development of community rail schemes since 2004. As a result Kilbride Community Rail is looking to develop the concept of using infrastructure development to assist with the regeneration of employment and residential areas across the country.

Kilbride Community Rail will invest and build necessary rail infrastructure, whether for freight or passengers, to provide new communities and customers with the necessary rail infrastructure to service their requirements.

The increase in passenger numbers and rail movements resulting from this local approach improves the revenue potential for the service and helps to cover the costs of the operation. Tying in development opportunities to the funding of the infrastructure gives the project the best possible chance of succeeding.

Working with local authorities and other key stakeholders, we are now developing a number of schemes, to provide social, environmental and economic benefits.
